RHINO LOADER DEALERS

SUBJECT: Loader Model Change

Date: July 2, 2009

Gentlemen:

The recent release of our new 3110 loader model that fit onto New Holland's TT60A and TT75A tractors caused us to have two loader models that were extremely similar in design and performance. After careful consideration, we have decided to consolidate all the mounting kits for the 2410 loader into the 3110 price pages and only offer the 3110. We will accept orders for the 2410 loaders as long as our inventory lasts – and we have very few left. Beyond that point, orders for the 2410 will automatically be converted to a 3110.

I have attached a copy of the updated price pages for the 3110 showing all the mounting brackets that were available for the 2410. I have also attached an updated Tractor to Loader Chart and the Table of Contents page for the Loader-Backhoe Price Book. We will update the information in the Price Book that is on the Dealer Zone to reflect these changes.

Finally, I have also attached a corrected copy of the price page for our Value Series 1590 loader. The list price shown in the recent Pre-Season Dealer mailing was not correct.

If you have any questions, please call. Thank you and keep up the good selling!
